FLEEING RATSKINS, VIOLENCIA OUTLAWED!

Guilders have made a statement this afternoon regarding the menace that was the "Silverskin" Ratskins; Unconfirmed reports had been coming into the Tribune since the weekends sporadic combat around the town.

Some reports claimed that Violencia had deliberately gone looking for the 'Skins to show the Guilders what they were missing, others stated that it was a deal gone wrong. Anghar Bak, scribe and representative for the Guilders made the following statement; 'The Guild of Merchants; Wal's Hole Division are pleased to announce that the menace that was the "Silverskins" has been driven out of the dome, we can confirm that the remainder of the gang has been seen heading east toward Bert's Town. Although we are grateful for the assistance of the gang Violencia, we cannot condone the illegality of the comments made by its members and have had no choice but to blacklist all their members and declare them Outlaw. All of their local holdings have been seized and redistributed to various sources.'

We have since discovered that the Guilders have sold Violencia's estates to House Saar.

We also received a hand written letter from Mackey the Leader of Violencia (Please excuse their spelling);

'So the dam Guilders and Escher thinks we are finished? They will haveta dream on, we are gonna wipe out this town, you pissed us off now we want revenge!'

Once again Guilders refused to comment on the statement.

SISTERS SPEAK OUT AGAIN ON SITUATION

After the King of the Spire tournament had finished, I for one was hoping that the gang violence would have calmed down.

But as you are about to read it is far from over. I was walking to a local bar when a group of very familiar ladies stepped out of the shadows, one ominously spoke; "Terri wants to talk with you again!" My stomach jumped with excitement at the thought of another meeting with the mysterious gang leader, at the same time my heart sank with fear of the thought of the heavy weapons being aimed at me again. Blindfolded again there was a short walk from the bar and was lead to what seemed to be a warehouse. Rushed inside I was lead towards a room and once inside the door was closed and my blindfold removed. Terri was sitting at a table cleaning her chainsword she looks towards me, pointing towards a chair and said; "Mr. Campbell, I have granted you this second interview as I feel a need for your services again."

Gulping as I sat down and pulling out my note pad, I asked how I could help to which she replied; "I want to talk about the Spire tournament, the "Crozius Arse-ones", the "loonies" and the "rats". "Crozius"; Revenge is a dish best served cold and it is very cold in the depths of the Wal's Hole and you "Rats" if you don't want to be next do stay out of my way! Now back to the "Crozius Arse-ones", whose leader will now be known as "the traitor"! So when we take you down to the bottom of the hive and as you walk down that passage way, stinking of your blood; Not only will you lose your name but you will also lose your face!" as she finished talking, she picked up her chainsword and flicking the activation switch she revved the motor menacingly. Quickly looking to change the subject I asked her about the new Escher groups coming into Wal's hole, namely; "The Queens of the Thunderdome", "Azazel's Angels" and "TheT Girls". "I", looking at me she replied;

"I will take their heads and they will fall by the way side and be forgotten , It's time for you to go now I have new juves to inspect. Girls take him away!"

As I was lead out of the warehouse I noticed 2 very young looking girls standing there holding knives, they hissed as I passed them. The next thing I remember was a sharp pain in my arm and I woke up in front of the Tribune's office.

VAN SAARS OCCUPY OUTLAW'S TERRITORIES

On my expectations of what I know about the Van Saar, I was not surprised to see quality of the operation that they had going.

With the recent occupation of the old Violencia territories like Pel's Hill, the Dogs Head drinking hole and a few ruins, the welcoming of Ivan's Roughnecks was surprisingly a good one. With what I'd heard about Violencia's bully boys and what they did to the settlement, the Van' Saars have tried to calm the population with repairs to various properties and encouragement to show that they are here to uphold the peace that the Arbites couldn't. With the drinks offers that they are offering in the dog's head it's clear why they are now so popular with buy one get one free drinks.

Upon entering the Dog's Head I was ushered into a back room where I got to meet the gang's leader "Ivan", I asked him what did he think about the chance to occupy the territories that were once owned by one of the most feared gangs in Wal's hole? His response was (translated from his thick Van Saar brogue); 'I couldn't give a rat's arse who owned them! They're ours now and we plan to clean up the mess those muscle bound morons left behind, not to mention try and get the Pel's Hills people to support our cause.'

I also asked him are they surprised at the welcome they have had. He responded with; 'To be honest William, we are not really surprised. The trouble they (Violencia) brought upon Wal's Hole and Pel's Hill, the people they welcomed an offer of a quieter life which we're hoping to provide. Since the Arbites claim they have a grip on the lawlessness in the area and we say they obviously do not! So we are going take up the role that the Arbites can't fill and as for Violencia; if we encounter them we'll defend what we can with what resources we have available.'

At that point he told me he had pressing matters to attend to and I was escorted to the bar and given a drink "on the house".

I'm not sure where these guys come from since they all had this weird accent but apparently they plan on staying long term. Let's see what Wal's Hole has in store for these newcomers. I'm guessing the "Twisted Sisters" are not going be happy with a new gang on the block taking up their rivals territories!
